

Dec Recap

The weather pretty much wiped out our hopes of having an excellent Dec.

We have sold a lot of Christmas product and will start packing the first week of Jan. Sales were pretty good overall.

I messed up the computer when I showed Jenny how to do a backup and actually activated an old back up and wiped out 5 days of sales. We have the reports so all is not lost but a lesson for me! And work for John . I guess I do need a break to clear my head and start fresh when I get back. I didn't follow my own instructions

The girls should be able to handle everything and I am taking my phone along although it may not be on all the time and out of service areas.

We will be putting more emphasis on auctions as well as we have over $1500. With 3 auctions to date Rose has been picking the items and it has brought in additional traffic . We will try to run 1 per month at least as we have lot of items ready to go.

I leave this Saturday and will be back to work on the 28th. With a greenhouse collapsing with the snow load I am really looking forward to getting away . We will rebuild when we get back. Happy New Years All and thanks for the continuing support.
